What is USActiveAdultCommunities.com About?

First, thank you for visiting. We hope that you will find the information that we continue to provide useful, in your search for an Active Adult Community.

Our number one goal is to find, and get information on as many Active Adult communities across the US as we possibly can. We will also be posting communities that, while not age restricted, make a lot of sense to consider. We are very excited about the Interactive Map, which will make finding Communities geographically, a simple and easy process. THANK YOU GOOGLE!!! Additionally, we hope to be able to provide you with some drill down features that will let you pick and choose the options and find those communities that fit.

In addition to getting these communities on our site, we will also be adding tools to enable you to contribute your experiences and preferences. This is very important! There are about 70 million of us. Let's work together. We'll also be adding links to other sites and articles that apply to this subject.

How do we do this? In order to do it right, we'll be partnering with numerous Real Estate Agents throughout the country. Initially, we'll be reaching out to the Agents with the S.R.E.S. (Senior Real Estate Specialist) designation. Click here, or on the link at left for more information regarding SRES. We prefer to obtain our information from a Professional Realtor that is local to these communities. Not only are they knowledgeable about the major Active Adult Communities, they will often know about other communities that should be considered as well. Please see Why Use a Realtor?
